THE UNIVERSITY OF NORTH FLORIDA

The University of North Florida officially came into existence in 1965 when the Florida Legislature authorized the creation of a state university or branch of an existing state university in Jacksonville to meet the higher educational needs of the northeast Florida region. The Board of Regents of the State University System recognized that these needs could best be met by an institution which offered junior, senior, and graduate level programs, drawing its students primarily from the area's junior and community colleges.

In 1969, a 1,000 acre campus site midway between the beaches and downtown Jacksonville was donated by the City of Jacksonville and area landowners. In that same year, Dr. Thomas G. Carpenter was appointed President of the University. Guided by President Carpenter and a small staff, continued planning led to the development of programs, the selection of administrative staff members, and the appointment of departmental chairpersons and faculty members. During the summer of 1972, the faculty reported for duty and, on October 2, more than 2,000 students began classes on the brand new campus.

The University's first students arrived on a campus consisting of four major buildings. In recent months four additional buildings have been completed and occupied, and planning has begun for the construction of a 750-seat auditorium. Significant in the planning and construction of campus facilities has been UNF's dedication to the preservation of the environment in which it finds itself. The campus harbors numerous native plant and animal lifeforms, and every effort has been made to avoid disturbing the natural ecological balance that exists. To this end, the UNF campus has been designated as a wildlife preserve and bird sanctuary.

The University of North Florida is an institution committed to teaching and regards classroom instruction as the most important instrument in the educational process. The faculty has been appointed after exhaustive search to insure that only the most qualified candidates are brought to the University.

Other learning experiences are incorporated into the academic programs to supplement the classroom experience, such as the unique Leonardo da Vinci Venture Studies program, which permits students to pursue liberal arts courses while specializing for a career.

The planning and work invested in the building of a strong new University in north Florida was rewarded in December, 1974, when the Southern Association of Colleges and Schools granted full academic accreditation to the University of North Florida at both the undergraduate and graduate levels. As far as anyone knows, UNF is the first university in history to have attained dual accreditation from the SACS.

The University also is committed to serving all segments of the state's population, while recognizing its primary geographic area of responsibility. It has not confined itself to a purely academic mission, but has moved out into the community to participate in the solution of problems confronting the community and its citizenry.

Totally resolved to the ideal of equal opportunity, the University enrolls and employs qualified persons, regardless of race, creed, or national origin.

THE SEAL AND SYMBOL OF THE UNIVERSITY OF NORTH FLORIDA

Two ancient devices—the circle and the compass rose—have been adopted and modified in creating a graphic symbol for the University of North Florida. The compass rose, long a direction-finding device for mariners, here symbolizes the University's role in providing direction for lives. The placement of the compass rose in the upper northeast quadrant of the circle describes the institution's upper division character and its location in the northeast of Florida. The circle itself signifies the community which the University is dedicated to serve.

The symbol was inspired by the University of North Florida seal, designed under the direction of President Thomas G. Carpenter. The seal will continue to be used on formal documents. The symbol, as a simpler representation of the seal, will be used in the University's publications and other communicative devices.

THE COMMENCEMENT CEREMONY

The commencement ceremony as we know it today has its roots in the academic traditions and heritage passed on by European universities of the 14th century.

While the ceremony itself has been modified to conform with more modern times, the academic dress of faculty and graduates still carries the vestiges of medieval times.

The cut of the academic cap and gown has an ancient significance. Once a symbol of rank or class, it today represents tradition and achievement. The cap, now a flat "mortar board," once was soft, full, and draped. The robes reflect the everyday dress of the Middle Ages.

Today's graduates and faculty fall into three categories as far as gown are concerned. The bachelor's degree candidate or graduate wears a robe with long, closed sleeves, but without a distinctive hood. The master's degree candidate or graduate wears a robe with long, closed sleeves, which have been slit near the upper part of the arm. This candidate also wears an abbreviated hood lined with the granting university's colors in satin and edged in velvet which signifies the discipline in which the degree was earned.

Faculty members holding doctoral degrees wear robes with round, open sleeves, ornamented with black velvet. While doctoral robes normally are black, many have been specifically designed in various color schemes by the granting institution or by the degree holder. The doctoral hood is larger but the color scheme is similar to that worn by the master's candidate.

At the University of North Florida, baccalaureate degree candidates wear a modified gown, reflecting the University's colors, light blue and white. These colors also are carried on the master's degree hoods.

A 14th century writer observed that the University of Paris was the first institution to assign distinctive costumes and colors to its four faculties. The University of North Florida's three colleges now employ colors that have been carried over to the modern day and prescribed by the 1895 Intercollegiate Commission as representing those disciplines. The College of Arts and Sciences, offering the Bachelor of Arts degree, is signified by a white cap tassel. The College of Business Administration, offering the Bachelor of Business Administration, uses a drab, or light olive brown, tassel. The College of Education, offering the Bachelor of Arts in Education, uses the traditional light blue tassel. Master's degree candidates wear black tassels, with the discipline color reflected on the wearer's hood. Most doctoral holders wear gold tassels.

This public document was printed at a total cost of $1,049.51, or $35c per copy, to provide program information and a listing of UNF graduates at UNF 1975 June Commencement exercises.
